TO ISSUE DIRECTORY OF R. F. D. ROUTES

H. P. Lingo and D. E. Crutcher are compiling a directory of the seven rural free delivery routes leading out of Conway, giving the name of each person getting mail on these routes and also indicating those who have telephones. The directory will be published in a pamphlet which will contain advertisements of local merchants and information regarding the parcel post system.

COUNTY'S FINANCES WORRYING JUDGE

PLANS RETRENCHMENT

COURT WILL CUT EXPENDITURES TO MINIMUM UNTIL DEBT IS REDUCED.

With Faulkner county scrip selling at the lowest price recorded since the Populist administration, 1890 to 1894, County Judge J. W. Holt has resolved to pursue a policy of retrenchment and rigorously cut down every possible item of expenditure until the county's debt is substantially reduced and the price of scrip brought back to a price approximating par. This, Judge Holt believes, can be done within three years, if the county court receives the co-operation of the county officials and all extraordinary outlays of county funds are discontinued. Fifty cents on the dollar is the top price for county scrip today, and some has sold recently as low as 35 cents.

According to the financial statement issued by County Clerk J. A. Lea for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1913, the outstanding indebtedness of the county was $63,991.54, an increase of $11,000 during the fiscal year. The increase was principally due to the expenditure of about $9,000 for steel bridges and considerable amounts for other improvements.

While these improvements were badly needed and others are still needed, Judge Holt believes that before any further expenditures are made the county should be pulled out of debt. "It is simply a matter of business," said Judge Holt today, "and a question which would not take a business man a minute to decide. If a man in business became so deeply involved in debt that his due bills and notes were not worth more than 50 cents on the dollar, he would not, if he ever hoped to restore his credit, go ahead spending more than his income. Yet that is just what Faulkner county has been doing, and it is just what I am going to try to stop."

The county's annual income is about $20,000, and out of this must be paid the expenses of circuit, county and magistrate's courts, keeping prisoners and paupers and various other necessary expenses. The county is now about three years behind its revenue, but if two years could be caught up, scrip would be worth practically par as the warrants could be cashed the following year after issuance.

With the prevailing prices of scrip, a juror receives from 60 to 80 cents a day for his services and pays his own expenses; a witness receives from 50 to 75 cents a day and pays his own expenses, and the county is forced to pay two or three prices for everything it buys.

Until this condition is remedied Judge Holt declares that not a dollar will be expended out of the county funds for roads, bridges or other improvements. Of course, this does not affect the expenditure of the three-mill road tax, but the judge positively says that no scrip will be issued for any purpose except absolutely necessary expenses until a substantial reduction has been effected in the county's debt.

The expenses of circuit and magistrate's courts are by far the largest item in the county's budget, but Judge Holt believes that some economies may be effected in these. He is especially anxious that the justices of the peace shall take up and try all misdemeanor cases in their respective townships and settle them without allowing them to go to circuit court. Another practice which Judge Holt hopes to see discontinued is one which has been very general in justice of the peace courts. It consists of arresting persons on felony charges when there is no likelihood of sustaining a conviction on such a charge, holding a preliminary hearing, dismissing the felony charge and re-arresting and fining the defendant for a misdemeanor. The township officers thus get double costs, the county being liable for the costs in felony hearings, while the defendant is taxed with the costs in the misdemeanor case.

Judge Holt advises all who are in possession of county scrip not to sell at the prevailing prices, as he feels sure that unless extraordinary conditions arise, much higher values will prevail before the end of his present term of office.

NOSE BROKEN IN BASE BALL GAME

While tagging out a runner at the plate in yesterday's game between Morrilton and Greenbrier, Jesse Legg was knocked down on his face and suffered a broken nose. Legg was catching for Morrilton and one of the opposing players collided with him in an attempt to score. It is not thought the injury will prove serious.

That The Power of Money

in making more money is the secret of getting rich is generally admitted.

The average so-called "saving deposit" is only $400—yet this $400 represents 6 per cent interest on nearly $7,000 for a full year. As the most of these accounts were started with a deposit of one to ten dollars and gradually increased to their present size, doesn't it seem that YOU can do fully as well as others? Make up your mind to DO IT—then it's merely a case of application. Your earnings are as large, or larger, than those of the average depositor referred to, only—you haven't been banking your money.

Come in and let us tell you some other reasons why you should have a bank account with the
